ABOUT OUR FLOORING

We mill a variety of widths into our antique wood flooring. Our reclaimed longleaf pine and antique oak flooring starts at a formal narrow strip of 1 1/2" wide and goes up to a beautiful wider cut of 11 1/2". The thickness will be a full 3/4" unless alternate thickness flooring is available. Antique wood timbers and boards are hand selected, derailed, and resawn. The resawn boards are graded and ripped to width. All sapwood is eliminated from the face surface of our SELECT and PERFECT grades. The sized lumber is then put through a multi-headed moulder and run into a tongue and groove flooring match profile. The bottom of our flooring is stress relieved by cutting channels to help prevent cupping and allow the flooring to breathe. Lengths go from 1' to over 14'. The average length in most grades is 6' to 8'.

Finally, each piece of floor is individually graded, culling out the inferior wood and defecting the good planks by removing all loose and large knots, rough shake, bolt holes and through splits. Both ends of each board are trimmed. Through this "hands-on" process we ensure that every inch of floor we produce is "What It's Worth".
